

Name: _____ Date: _____

Answer Key: Newsroom Greenhouse: Current Events Harvest for 7th Grade

Moving past simple headlines to connect local infrastructure choices with global environmental shifts through fundamental evidence-gathering techniques.

1. A local newspaper reports that a new city park is being built on an old industrial site. This is an example of which type of issue?

Answer: C) Local community issue

Because the park construction specifically affects the people living within that city or neighborhood, it is classified as a local issue.

2. A 'bias' in a news article means the author is presenting a completely neutral and balanced view of the topic.

Answer: B) False

Bias refers to a prejudice in favor of or against one thing, person, or group, often in a way considered to be unfair.

3. When a reporter interviews a scientist to explain a new discovery, the scientist's quotes are considered a _____ source.

Answer: B) Primary

Primary sources provided direct or firsthand evidence about an event or topic from someone who experienced it or is an expert.

4. If the Australian government changes its laws regarding the export of wool to other continents, this is best described as a(n) _____ issue.

Answer: C) International

Issues involving trade between different countries and continents are international because they affect global systems.

5. Analyzing the _____ of a news event means looking at the results or consequences that happen after the event takes place.

Answer: A) Impact

Name: _____ Date: _____

Impact refers to the effect or influence one thing has on another, such as how a new law affects citizens.

6. Checking multiple news sources is a good way to verify if a story is accurate.

Answer: A) True

Comparing different reports helps identify facts that remain consistent and sheds light on potential biases or errors.

7. A journalist writes an article about a new solar farm. They only interview people who like the project and ignore the neighbors who are upset. This is an example of:

Answer: C) Selection bias

Selection bias occurs when certain perspectives are intentionally or accidentally left out to favor one side of a story.

8. An article or video that is created to persuade people to believe a specific political viewpoint is often called _____.

Answer: A) Propaganda

Propaganda is information, especially of a biased or misleading nature, used to promote a particular political cause or point of view.

9. Which of the following would be the most reliable source for information on a new healthcare law in the United Kingdom?

Answer: B) An official government report

Official government reports provide the actual text and intended purpose of laws, making them highly reliable primary sources.

10. Understanding current events is important because it helps citizens make informed decisions during elections.

Answer: A) True

Informed citizens can use their knowledge of current issues to choose leaders whose policies align with their values.