

Name: _____ Date: _____

Wrangle Fairness: A Pre-K Bill of Rights Playground Quiz

Evaluate complex playground scenarios to synthesize concepts of individual expression and collective rule-making through interactive problem-solving.

1. If our classroom 'Constitution' says everyone gets a turn, but one friend wants to keep the red crayon forever, what is happening to our rules?

- A. The rules are being followed perfectly.
- B. The rules are being broken because one person has too much power.
- C. The crayon is making the rules.
- D. The paper is the boss of the crayon.

2. If a group of friends decides to make a new game, they have the 'right' to talk about their ideas together.

- A. True
- B. False

3. The Bill of Rights is like a list of _____ for the government so they remember to be fair to everyone.

- A. Scary stories
- B. Secret snacks
- C. Special promises
- D. Nap time blankets

4. Imagine a 'Class President' tells you that you are not allowed to wear blue shirts anymore. Which part of being free ignores this silly rule?

- A. The right to stay at home
- B. The right to choose how we express ourselves
- C. The right to eat dessert first
- D. The right to sleep during the quiz

5. A teacher is allowed to take your backpack and look inside for no reason at all.

- A. True
- B. False

6. If three friends are in charge of the toys, but one friend watches the other two to make sure they share, what do we call this balance?

- A. A big argument
- B. The Rule of Runaway
- C. Checks and Balances
- D. The Circle of Quiet

Name: _____ Date: _____

7. When we want to change a rule in our classroom, we use our _____ to tell the teacher what we think.

- A. Feet
- B. Voices
- C. Lunchboxes
- D. Pillows

8. In our classroom 'Constitution,' who is the most important part of the government?

- A. The desks
- B. Only the loudest kid
- C. We the People (The Children)
- D. The wall clock

9. If a friend is accused of taking a toy, they should have a chance to tell their side of the story before getting in trouble.

- A. True
- B. False

10. The Constitution is the 'Supreme _____ of the Land,' which means no other rule can be more important.

- A. Cake
- B. Hat
- C. Law
- D. Song