

Name: _____ Date: _____

When the Narrative Shifts: 10th Grade Writing Process Quiz

Sophomores analyze structural transitions and recursive drafting techniques to prepare their portfolios for college-level rhetorical demands.

1. A student is moving from a sequence of events to an analysis of the 'foundational cause' in a historical narrative. Which recursive step is most vital to ensure the structural integrity of this shift?

- A. Linear drafting of the conclusion
- B. Reverse outlining to check thematic alignment
- C. Proofreading for subject-verb agreement
- D. Changing the font to gain a fresh perspective

2. In the advanced writing process, 'global revision' refers strictly to the correction of mechanical errors like comma splices and misplaced modifiers.

- A. True
- B. False

3. When a writer utilizes _____ brainstorming to explore the etymology of a word like 'justice' before writing a law essay, they are engaging in the discovery phase of the writing process.

- A. Heuristic
- B. Surface-level
- C. Standardized
- D. Restricted

4. You are peer-reviewing a draft that lacks 'syntactic variety.' Which strategy should you suggest the writer use during the revision stage to enhance the sophistication of their piece?

- A. Replace all adjectives with high-level synonyms
- B. Incorporate more simple, declarative sentences
- C. Combine sentences using subordinating conjunctions
- D. Add more citations to increase the word count

5. The 'recursive' nature of writing means that a writer may need to return to the planning or brainstorming stage even after a full draft has been written.

- A. True
- B. False

6. During the editing phase, a writer focusing on _____ ensures that the tone remains consistent with the intended scholarly or professional audience.

- A. Orthography
- B. Rhetorical stance
- C. Phonetics

Name: _____ Date: _____

D. Formatting

7. Which of these activities characterizes the 'incubation' period within the planning process of a complex analytical essay?

- A. Rapidly typing the first paragraph
- B. Stepping away from the prompt to allow the subconscious to process information
- C. Formatting the Works Cited page in MLA style
- D. Color-coding every noun in the rough draft

8. A writer who utilizes _____ logic during the drafting phase starts with specific observations to build toward a general conclusion.

- A. Deductive
- B. Circular
- C. Inductive
- D. Fallacious

9. Publishing in a 10th-grade context is strictly limited to submitting a paper to a teacher for a grade.

- A. True
- B. False

10. During the revision of a literary analysis, you realize your 'claims' are not sufficiently supported by 'warrants.' What should your next step be?

- A. Check the spelling of the author's name
- B. Delete the claims to make the essay shorter
- C. Explain how the evidence specifically proves the thesis
- D. Add more direct quotes without commentary