A Scout's Map: Rebuilding a Broken Nation for Pre-K

Preschoolers solve big problems by deciding how to share toys, fix broken houses, and help neighbors get along just like leaders during Reconstruction.

---

1. The nation was like a broken toy. If you were a leader, what is the best way to help people feel happy again?

- A. Take their toys away
- B. Help everyone work together to fix the pieces
- C. Tell them to play in different rooms forever
- D. Buy a new toy and throw the old one away

2. Some people did not have houses or schools after the war. Imagine you are in charge of helping them. What should you build first?

- A. A giant candy shop
- B. A big wall to hide behind
- C. Schools so everyone can learn to read and help
- D. A playground with only one swing

3. If two friends are fighting and then they stop, we say they are making _____.

- A. Noise
- B. A Mess
- C. Peace
- D. Cookies

4. True or False: After a big fight, it is very easy for everyone to be best friends the very next day.

- A. True
- B. False

5. A group of people called 'helpers' went to the South to give out food and clothes. Why did they do this?

- A. Because they had too much food
- B. To make sure families had what they needed to start over
- C. To play a game of tag
- D. Because they were lost

6. The North and the South had to follow the same _____ to stay together as one big family.

- A. Rules
- B. Cars
- C. Animals
- D. Songs
