1. In narrative theory, which term describes the unique 'flavor' or personality a writer injects into their prose, often revealing their attitude toward the subject?

Answer: B) Voice

Voice is the stylistic mix of vocabulary, tone, and point of view that makes a writer's work unique and recognizable.

2. True or False: A 'stream of consciousness' narrative style is characterized by a logical, chronological sequence of events without internal character thoughts.

Answer: B) False

Stream of consciousness mimics the non-linear, often chaotic flow of human thought, rather than a strictly logical chronological structure.

3. When an author uses recurring symbols or patterns to develop a story's theme, they are utilizing a _____.

Answer: B) Motif

A motif is a repetitive element or idea that helps reinforce the central themes of a literary work.

4. Which of the following is an example of an epistolary form of creative writing?

Answer: B) A novel composed of letters and diary entries

Epistolary writing is a creative form where the narrative is conveyed through documents, typically letters.

5. True or False: Flash fiction is a genre of creative writing known for its extreme brevity, often containing fewer than 1,000 words.

Answer: A) True

Flash fiction is defined by its concise nature, requiring the author to build a full story arc in a very limited word count.

6. The use of descriptive language that appeals to the physical senses is known as vivid _____.

Name: _____ Date: _____

Answer: B) Imagery

Imagery uses sensory details (sight, sound, smell, taste, touch) to create a mental picture for the reader.

7. In the context of creative writing, what does 'originality' primarily refer to?

Answer: C) A fresh perspective or unique approach to a story

Originality is about the unique 'twist' or specific perspective a writer brings to their work, even when using familiar themes.

8. A writer who chooses a playful or mocking tone to address a serious subject is utilizing _____.

Answer: A) Satire

Satire is a creative style that uses humor, irony, or exaggeration to expose and criticize people's stupidity or vices.

9. True or False: 'Style' in creative writing refers only to the correct use of punctuation and spelling.

Answer: B) False

Style encompasses much more than mechanics; it includes sentence structure, figurative language, and the overall rhythm of the prose.

10. Which creative writing element is best demonstrated by the sentence: 'The wind shrieked through the jagged mountain peaks like a wounded beast'?

Answer: C) Figurative Language

This sentence uses a simile ('like a wounded beast'), which is a primary component of figurative language in creative writing.
