Answer Key: Will You Lead Your Classroom? Early Leadership and Rules Quiz for Pre-K

How do we make fair rules for everyone? Children apply the concept of shared leadership and collaborative rule-making in a group setting.

1. If your class needs a new rule about sharing toys, who should help decide?

Answer: C) The whole group together

In a republic, people work together to make rules that help everyone get along fairly.

2. True or False: A leader is someone who helps take care of their friends and follows the rules.

Answer: A) True

Early American leaders like the Founders showed that leading means serving the community and following agreed-upon rules.

3. When we all agree on a list of rules to keep us safe, that list is like a ____.

Answer: B) Constitution

A Constitution is a written plan that explains how a group of people will live and work together fairly.

4. Imagine your friends are arguing about a game. What is the fairest way to solve it?

Answer: D) Talk and vote on a solution

Compromise and voting are ways the early government solved problems so every 'state' or friend felt heard.

5. True or False: In a fair group, only the strongest person gets to make the rules.

Answer: B) False

The Constitution was created so that power is shared, rather than held by just one strong person or king.

6. If you have a 'Right' to speak, it means you are ____ to share your ideas.

Answer: A) Allowed

Name: _____ Date: _____

The Bill of Rights was added to the Constitution to make sure everyone is allowed to have important freedoms.

7. Which of these is a way you can be a good citizen in your classroom today?

Answer: A) Helping a friend clean up

Being a citizen means participating and helping your community, just like people in the early United States.

8. True or False: Voting is a way to choose what the group will do together.

Answer: A) True

Voting is a fundamental part of a republic that lets individuals have a say in their government.

9. Why do we have a 'Bill of Rights' or a list of classroom promises?

Answer: B) To keep everyone safe and free

The founders created the Bill of Rights to protect people's safety and individual freedoms.

10. When different people agree to give up a little bit to get along, it is called a ____.

Answer: C) Compromise

The Constitutional Convention succeeded because people from different places made compromises to work together.
