

Name: _____ Date: _____

Preschoolers Picking Powerful Prideful Leaders

Imagine our playground needs a new snack rule. Young learners will weigh who gets to make big choices and how shared power keeps everyone playing fair.

1. In a village where everyone gets one vote to pick a snack, but in another village, one person picks for everyone, which village is more fair for the group?

- A. The village where everyone votes together
- B. The village where one person decides everything
- C. Neither village is fair at all
- D. The village with the most snacks

2. If a leader makes a rule that only they can play with the red ball, they are sharing power with the other children.

- A. True
- B. False

3. If the Classroom Captain has to ask the Teacher before making a new rule, this means their power is _____.

- A. Unlimited
- B. Limited
- C. Broken
- D. Invisible

4. Imagine two islands. On Blue Island, children follow one Queen. On Red Island, children pick a group of friends to lead. Which island lets more people help lead?

- A. Blue Island
- B. Red Island
- C. Both are the same
- D. The island with the most trees

5. A leader who listens to suggestions from friends is acting like a fair democratic leader.

- A. True
- B. False

6. When a leader is the only person allowed to talk and no one else can speak, this is a _____ way to lead.

- A. Friendly
- B. Fair
- C. Strict
- D. Funny

Name: _____ Date: _____

7. Think about a King who gets to be leader because his Dad was King. How is that different from a President?

- A. The King was chosen by the people
- B. The President is chosen by the people
- C. A King always shares his toys
- D. A President lives in a castle

8. In a fair system, even the leader has to follow the same rules as everyone else.

- A. True
- B. False

9. What happens if a leader makes a rule that makes everyone sad? In a fair group, what can the children do?

- A. They must be sad forever
- B. They can talk and vote for a new rule
- C. They have to leave the playground
- D. Nothing at all

10. If one person makes rules for the whole country, but local towns make their own rules for schools, this is like _____.

- A. Sharing
- B. Hiding
- C. Fighting
- D. Sleeping