

Name: _____ Date: _____

Author's Purpose and Tone Analysis Quiz

Analyze author's purpose and tone in various texts with this ELA quiz. Students will identify PIE elements and analyze word choice through textual evidence.

1. Read the following passage: 'While common house cats may seem like lazy companions, they are actually highly evolved apex predators. Their retractable claws and night vision allow them to hunt with surgical precision.' What is the author's primary purpose and tone?

- A. To entertain with a story about pets; playful tone
- B. To inform the reader about cat biology; admiring tone
- C. To persuade people to adopt cats; urgent tone
- D. To explain how to train a cat; instructive tone

2. An author writes: 'The town council's decision to pave over the historic wildflower meadow is not just a mistake—it is a heartbreaking betrayal of our community's heritage.' Which word choice best reveals the author's tone?

- A. Town council
- B. Pave over
- C. Heartbreaking betrayal
- D. Decision

3. In a fictional story, a character describes a dark forest: 'The trees stood like skeletal soldiers, their frozen branches clawing at the moonless sky.' How does this imagery affect the reader's understanding of the setting?

- A. It creates a whimsical tone to make the reader feel safe.
- B. It provides scientific facts about how trees grow in winter.
- C. It establishes a somber or eerie tone through menacing comparisons.
- D. It persuades the reader to protect the environment.

4. A travel brochure states: 'Tired of the same old backyard? Discover the sapphire waters and sun-drenched sands of the Maldives. Your soul deserves this escape.' What is the author's primary purpose?

- A. To inform the reader of the Maldives' exact geographic coordinates.
- B. To entertain the reader with a tall tale about the ocean.
- C. To persuade the reader to book a vacation using appealing imagery.
- D. To critique the tourism industry for being over-commercialized.

Name: _____ Date: _____

5. Read the two statements about the same storm. Text A: 'The precipitation reached three inches per hour, causing localized flooding.' Text B: 'The sky opened up in a ruthless torrent, drowning the streets in a chaotic flood.' How do the authors' perspectives differ?

- A. Text A is objective/neutral, while Text B is subjective/dramatic.
- B. Text A is intended to entertain, while Text B is intended to inform.
- C. Text A uses personification, while Text B uses only literal facts.
- D. Both texts have the same tone and provide the same emotional impact.